Introduction: 40 Developmental Assets

Research by Search Institute has identified 40 concrete, positive experiences and qualities- "developmental assets"-that have a tremendous influence on young people's lives and they are things that people from all walks of life can help to nurture.

Listed below are the 40 developmental assets that youth need to grow up to be competent, caring and healthy. Helping youth to develop these assets depends primarily on individuals - parents, grandparents, teachers, neighbors and many others - building positive relationships with children and teenagers. Nearly all children and adolescents need more developmental assets than they now have. While it is crucial to pay special attention to those children who have the least economically and emotionally, the challenge is to reclaim the kind of community-wide attention to positive development that will impact ALL young people.

Working Papers for Youth:

Working papers serve as official employment certificates. You will need working papers if you are under 18 years old. Working papers are divided into two age groups (14-15 and 16-17). If you are in school, go to your guidance office and ask for a working papers application. If you are not in school, go to the nearest school by where you live because they are required to give you the application. Fill out the application and have your parent or guardian sign the application. When you have filled out the working papers application and had your parent or guardian sign it, you have to take it back to the school's guidance office. You will also need to have had a doctor's exam within the last 12 months saying you are physically fit. A physical given at a school for sports will count for your physical exam. If you are not sure where you can get a physical, ask your guidance office or call your doctor.

14-15 year olds - Your working papers are blue. If you are 14 and 15 years old, you are issued these working papers because you are not allowed to work in a factory.

16-17 year olds (in school) - Your working papers are green. The difference between 14-15 year old working papers and 16-17 year old working papers is that you are allowed to work in a factory. You cannot work around certain machines, do construction work, help on a motor vehicle, clean, oil, wipe, or adjust belts on machinery

16-17 year olds (out of school) - Your working papers are peach. If you are 16 - 17 years old and are not in school or are leaving school for full time employment, you will need these working papers. You can work in a factory, cannot work around certain machines, do construction work, help on a motor vehicle, or clean, oil, wipe, or adjust belts on machinery.

When you turn 16, you will need to go from your 14–15-year-old working papers (blue) and get your 16-17 year old working papers (green). Go to your guidance office of your school or nearest school to update your working papers.
