ACADEMIC INTERVENTION SERVICES
2019.2020 SCHOOL YEAR

At Port Jervis Middle School we are committed to monitoring our students' progress and providing academic and behavioral supports to students who need such. Each class allows for targeted instruction and attention to individual needs.

PJMS offers an extensive after-school AIS program with classes to address all our students' needs:

- Some AIS classes provide the perfect opportunity for extra help. Teachers are available to review classwork, help with homework and re-teach topics that are causing difficulty. Students are encouraged to attend Math, ELA, Science or Social Studies whenever they need it!

- Other AIS classes are specifically designed for students who did not successfully complete summer school. These students must attend 75 instructional hours, after-school through the first semester. These AIS classes are curriculum based and provide the basis for success during the school year.

- During the second semester students who are in danger of failing for the school year and/or are identified as needing additional instruction will be scheduled for specific classes. Students are carefully placed and monitored within these AIS classes. Students have the ability to move in and out of AIS classes according to the progress each individual student is exhibiting
